

Bequest fact sheet

Your legacy can mean a better future for Australia's children.

A gift in your Will could touch the life of a child who is struggling and transform their future.

You'll never know that child. But we can promise you – really promise you – that your bequest will make something profound happen in a child's life. We know that, because every day, through over 100 different programs, we make things happen for children and young people in very difficult circumstances.

Types of bequests

It is a common myth that you have to be wealthy to leave a gift in your Will, but nothing could be further from the truth. After taking care of family and friends, your gift can take a variety of forms, including:

The residue of your estate

The remainder of your estate after specific gifts have been disbursed.

A percentage

You could choose to leave a percentage of either the residue of your estate, or a percentage of your entire estate.

A pecuniary gift

A specific gift of cash.

An asset

This could be land, shares, art or other personal property.

A conditional bequest

In the unlikely event that your beneficiaries don't survive you, you may wish to leave your estate to Barnardos Australia.
